ONE YEAR

Some Republicans are a good deal exercised as to what shall be done with the negro. There is a good deal of proess making for the idea that somehow the races must be separated. All scheme to effect that are impracticable, and will never be adopted. Before the dominant party can admit the necessity of separation, they will have to admit that they have been mistaken from first to last in warring upon slavery. If the white man and the negro can only live together as invented? It is easy to pull down; let us

An awkward, clumsy, ridiculous maemploy and take care of three or four millions of helpless people, which is precisely adapted to destroy two where it saves one, and we are promised wonderful exploits and performances. Then we are told that negroes will work, and again that they will not. The white men South, who knows the negro well, is railed at, because he doesn't help on the experiment. The fact is, sensible people are not likely to nelp on an experiment to teach fishes to fly and chickens to swim.

The telegraph tells us of lands laid waste, and to be bought for a song, once worth fortunes, and would be so still with system of labor that could be depended on. The owners would take no such prices if they believed that any practicable system would be adopted. It is all right. however, the dominant party generally will assure the public; and their testimony goes to those more than willing to believe; for it would be suicidal to be convinced to the contrary. So the senseless experiments will go on for a time at least, until the taxgatherer opens the eyes of people to the reality.

Our "Union" Central Committee in ormed the public here in Kentucky that a large amount of the unskilled labor in Indiana and Illinois was performed by egroes, when the negro did not make but prove. one or two per cent. of the whole population. The committee knew nothing about it when they made the assertion. So, we shall have equally groundless assertions bout the negroes of the South, and they will pass for truth until experience drives the truth home to the understandings of nep. In the meantime, the faithful can attend to the controversy about the sepasubject for debating clubs of long winter

We looked over the debates in the Mississippi Convention to see what these x-rebels were disposed to do. The proision prohibiting slavery and involuntary servitude was offered by the committee in its usual form; but a substitute was offered, declaring that slavery had ment. This was objected to, for the reason that it might not be acceptable at Washclared that the provision was not the uny all the laws of Congress, and the procamations of the President, the substiute was laid on the table by a pretty close vote. It only gave place to another counts. mendment, asserting that "slavery havng been abolished," &c., without saying who did it; the provision was adopted. Of course, what else could these ex-rebels do than what they swore to do, before they ould do anything at all? The terrible chivalry of five years ago has oozed out. like Bob Acres' courage, and they are ontent now to do what they can, and not either with a good grace; for their theory is, that they were an independent nation. They repudiated the Federal Constitution, and can't, therefore, claim its protection. They chose the game of war and lost it. They have learned in the school of hard experience, where some people have to learn, that this thing of breaking up governments is not half so good an amusement as they thought it was. On the other hand, this is a new way of abolishing slavery by the free action of the States. Any way, however, will suit politicians, if they can thereby get office and spoils. They would have done the same thing in nade and the talk we hear among those who usually contribute to the State Fair, we have reason to believe that the exhibition this year will be one of the most brilliant ever made. The first day's exhibition of cattle, we have reason to believe, will be a very fine one indeed. It is one of the most important interests in our State, and no one can acquire a better knowledge of the best bred stock than at this general fair of the whole State. The contributors have the great assurance that the judges of the stock have been chosen from those practically familiar with the first stock in the country. The names are familiar to the stock-breeding world, and are a guarantee that their decision will be really and truly respected everywhere. We are especially pleased to see the steady increasing interest in horses. Kentucky now stands unrivaled, but the enure of the high position depends upon the utmost exertions of our breeders. It is a position hard to win and retain. We have one great advantage, that Kenticky has all the best stock in her borders, and superior and inferior, what system as all the fire animals abroad are from Kengood as the old one for both races can be tucky stock. The Kentucky horses con manded extravagant prices, but even these prices will decline, if once the adsee how the destructives will build up. We see the experiments going on, and vantage is obtained of building up in some hear of success here and failure there and other State a rival market. With this fect before us we are glad to know that the best Kentucky stock will chinery is tinkered up at Washington to be represented at the coming Thir, and that a generous rivalty will draw our stockraisers together. We hope stock growers th other States will take this opportunity of comparing their animals with those of Kentucky. No better opportunity could be found. T

In the mechanical department there is promise of one of the best exhibition this State has ever made, and it is an ir terest of great importance. To cultivate land is one thing; to cultivate it in the best, cheapest and most economical way, is another. The rude barbarian, turning up the soil with a cow hitched to a sharp ened stick, is rather different from th improved model plows, which turn up the fresh, rich earth as easily as a line is traced on paper. To watch these and cabinet, carpenter and cooper work, leather, boots and shoes, &c., is a part of the business of the fair, which will be well-attended to.

Each day's exhibition wit commence precisely at nine o'diock; the stock to be brought into the amphitheater in the order of the premium list.

The awards of the jacges will be announced as soon as the decisions are the business of the fair, which will be

From the Caddo (La.) Gazette, August 11. The readers of the Gazette will please take the present issue with due allow-ance, as the absence of the editor must be sufficient apology for lack of interesting editorial matter. The writer hereof was pressed into the service for the nonce, and at the eleventh hour; and whilst he with at the eleventh hour; and whist he will becoming modesty disciains the hope of alling the doctor's place, he would also wish it understood that the editor de jure should not be held responsible for anything that is written, although he does not consider that he has said aught which may be deemed particularly obnoxious to the powers that be.

Having accepted "the situation" as it is, we do not feel to be captions or fault-finding in regard to the powers that be. Nevertheless, we must say that it passes grance of a Havana, and not dreaming that we were violating any of the numberless rules and regulations of the military, we were most peremptorily ordered by a colored individual with a musket, to "drop dat segar." We, as in duty bound, instantly complied though could not were gated people feel more keenly their degra-dation? And yet this seemly their degrament, which is to bind up the gaping wounds inflicted by a bloody war, and bring back the sections to their whilom concord and good feeling. The guard here frequently order ladies off the side-this could be done here, and the Government be none the loser.

We take the liberty of calling the attention of officers to these things, because we must believe that they are an abuse of must believe that they are an abuse of authority on the part of the gnard. Such interference with the plainest rights is ex-tremely vexations to our people, and would be so to any people under the sun, save and except the denizens of Boston, save and except the denizens of Boston, where, it is said, a man is not allowed to From the same paper.

The depredations upon gardens and melon patches by soldiers in this vicinity are outrageous. This is not only done at night, but at any and all times. And who dare object? It would only result in insult and abuse. No man or woman is secure from insult on his own premises—the theory that each man's house is his continuous and the property of the control of the cont castle is an exploded humbug. Several poor families, who are solely dependent for support upon the market-gardens, have been runed by the soldiers. We have been told that one lady applied to Gen. Veatch for redress, and he gave her
